6 Feet 4 Inches, So He Can't Help U. S. Lick Kaiser's Army

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.— Gustav Conrad, six feet four inches tall, and from Scranton, arrived in Philadelphia yesterday to enlist.

From Broad street station he went direct to the Marine corps recruiting station on Arch street, above Broad, only to be turned down there because he was three inches too tall to make a marine.
The navy, being the nearest station to the marine corps, was the next port of call for Conrad, but there he was rejected for underweight. The army refused him because of flat feet.

Only one other chance to get into Uncle Sam's fighting forces remained, that being the aviation training school at Eastington.
The examining officer there gave him one swift glance.

"You're too tall to be an aviator," was the sad news he handed Conrad. But Conrad is a mechanical engineer, and the officer at Eastington will try to have him enlisted for service to work on airplane motors.

NEW ENGLAND MEN WILL BE FIRST TO FIGHT, SAYS OLNEY

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—American troops soon will see action in France, and there is a larger American army in that country than the public has any idea of, according to Congressman Ol-ney of Massachusetts, member of the House Military Affairs Committee.

The New England division the Congressman soon expects to see doing foreign duty.

There was a lengthy debate in the War Department, Olney declares, as to whether New York, Pennsylvania, or New England troops would lead the van, and it was decided that as the New England soldiers were more seasoned and more fully equipped than the others, they should be selected.

LOSES $2,500 SITTING ON BEACH AT CONEY

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—When America declared war, William Yates, of Brooklyn, took $2,500, his life's savings, out of a bank and tied it up in a handkerchief with a diamond ring worth $150. He said he was afraid the Government might need the money and take it.

Yesterday, with the money still in his pocket, Yates took his wife to Coney Island. He had been sitting on the sand a while when he missed the handkerchief with its contents. He hurried to the Coney Island police station and told his story.

Yates thinks he lost the money in the sand. The police say pickpockets got it.

CHARGES PRICE PLOT TO BOOK PAPER MEN

Charging concerted action to increase prices in the book paper industry for the last two years, the Federal Trade Commission has filed a formal complaint against "the bureau of statistics" of the Book Paper Manufacturers, New York; Charles F.
Moore, the bureau's secretary, and twenty-three paper manufacturers.

The complaint alleges unfair methods of competition in interstate commerce.

WINDMILL IS SWAPPED FOR BLOOMERS BY GALE

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 25.—John Chittenden, member of the legislature from Ellis county is in Topeka, with a tale of woe. He has a fine pair of pink silk bloomers that belong to some one in western Kansas and some one has a wrecked windmill and some other property that belong to Chittenden.

One night last week a small tornado swept across Ellis county, and the Chittenden farm was hit. His barn was wrecked, his chickens all killed and his windmill blown away.
Wounded around a board near the barn foundation was the pair of bloomers, which escaped without a scratch or a hole.

HOOPER APPEALS TO STOCK RAISERS; WON'T FIX PRICES

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Urging increased production of live stock, Herbert Hoover, national food administrator, in addressing editors of farm and agricultural journals from all parts of the country here, expects his appeal to reach every farmer in the country.

Chicago packers want the Government to assume immediate charge of the meat industry.

The Government, on the other hand, has no intention of fixing prices of meat products, according to Mr.
Hoover.

This was the rather confusing status of an important phase of the food situation when Hoover left for Washington last night after addressing the editors who represent twenty-four States, and whose papers have a combined circulation of 4,000,000 copies.

Hoover was reported to have had a secret conference with packers' representatives, but this could not be confirmed. It was known, however, that the packers made formal request for Hoover to take charge of the live stock industry at once.

Hoover reciprocated by asking the packers to confer with him and Secretary Houston, in Washington, September 5 and 6.

Hoover's declaration that "there is no foundation for any statement that the food administration has any intention to fix prices of beef and pork products, came as a surprise, as it was generally believed Hoover's principal object in coming here was to confer with packers with that end in view.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Jacob Glas, the world's champion tax evader, yesterday met a Waterloo in the shape of a decision of the board of review.

This board, after many hours of examination and after hurling hundreds of questions at Glas, finally decided that the Elmhurst gentleman was deliberately attempting to evade taxation.

An estimated assessment of $1,000-000, together with a penalty of $800-000, was placed on the records against Glas' estate.

This may not be all either. Edward E. Litsinger, member of the board of review, said that State's Attorney Hoynes would be asked to take action against Glas.

"Glas appeared before the board today in a very belligerent manner," said Mr. Litsinger. "He made no attempt to show his tax records as he have repeatedly requested him to do.
He refused to show us the exact amount of his holdings, and the board resolved to take a decisive action."

"I don't know just what action the State can take, but if Glas can be indicted we are going to ask that the grand jury be shown the facts," continued Mr. Litsinger.

Following the decision of the board of review Attorney John E. O'Connor, counsel for Glas, asked that a report of the hearing be sent to the State auditor.

"I am asking this so the matter can be taken to the Supreme Court," stated Mr. O'Connor.
